

CURRICULUM VITAE

Name Jane Elizabeth Scullion Telephone 01455 822465
Mobile 07802825284

Address 3 Berrington Close E-mail
Botcheston jane.scullion@uhl-tr.nhs.uk
Leicester
LE9 9FQ

Profile

An extremely experienced, self-motivated, enthusiastic, passionate and committed nurse, combining expert knowledge with up to date clinical skills. An excellent profile in both the local and national scene, with a reputation for delivery. An accomplished leader and facilitator, with excellent communication skills and the ability to develop and support both staff and clients. Able to work effectively as a team member, but also used to autonomous working. Both visionary and creative balanced with a pragmatic side. Always looking for and willing to take on new challenges

Current posts

	Dates
Expert Nurse Apex Health ltd	1 st July 2015
Trustee Education for Health	1 st August 2015
Medacs Custody Nurse (Bank contract)	1 st Sept 2013
Respiratory Nurse Consultant Leicestershire	1 st August 2000
SHA Clinical Lead Respiratory	1 st Jan 2010
SHA Clinical Lead Long Term Conditions	1 st Jan 2009 -12
Thorax Editorial Board	1 st March 2009
Trustee PCRS-UK	1 st Oct 2008
RCN Editorial Advisory Board for Primary Health Care Magazine	1 st Sept 2001
Chair COPD Interest Group (CIG)	1 st Sept 2002
Trustee for Respiratory Education UK – now Education for Health	1 st March 2004
Chair Respiratory Nurse Consultant Group	1 st Sept 2004
Honorary Senior Lecturer De Montfort University	1 st Jan 2006
Chair of Nurse Advisory Group BTS	1 st Aug 2008 - 2012

Projects

2012

2007 - 9 Part of research team for GLAD study looking at breathing retraining in asthma

2007 £80,000 from County Council for project in Telehealth

2008 £80,000 from DOH for training videos for end of life discussions in COPD through IMPRESS group

2012 £70,000 from Orion Pharma for educational asthma package

2013 £70,000 from Almirall Pharma for educational COPD package

Role and Responsibilities

Currently I work as a Respiratory Nurse Consultant for three days a week and as Regional Respiratory Clinical lead on a sessional basis. This allows me to have a 50% clinical input where I work autonomously both in hospital clinics and in clients own homes, as well as having a regional view of service provision. My interest is in chronic disease management, coping mechanisms and I am obsessed with inhaler correct inhaler usage.

Working across Leicestershire I am used to travel and understand the importance of being a visitor in someone's home. I am also used to ethnic diversity and subsequent health needs with clients with different ethnic backgrounds.

In addition to my clinical work I have an educational role, a research role and a role in service development. I have been involved in professional education nationally and internationally in India, Japan and Tel Aviv. I believe I am a competent educator and have the ability to express my views eloquently. Experienced in many areas of information technology I have a good knowledge of spread sheets, word, excel, and powerpoint. I use computer technology daily.

My roles within the British Thoracic Society led to being awarded the meritorious award in 2010, the first nurse to be awarded this honour. My work with primary care enables me to walk between the acute and primary care sectors and tertiary care. I also work with patient groups specifically the British Lung Foundation as regional lead and as the chair of the PCRS-UK lay members group.

My bank position as a custody nurse for MEDACs has improved my triage skills and my awareness of the legal process under PACE for care of people in custody and issues such as safeguarding and of legal documentation.

Working as an expert nurse allows me to consider liability and causation within the nursing role and reinforced the need for

I retain a good sense of humour and passion for my work and I believe I am extremely adaptable and thrive on new challenges.

Articles/ Publications

I have authored and co-authored several books and write on a regular basis articles and publish on a regular basis. I believe this shows I am confident with the written as well as the oral means of communication and include some of the more recent ones here :

Scullion J Holmes S Asthma Care – time for a rethink Primary Health Care 2015:24(10) 33-39

Holmes S Scullion J Updated BTS/SIGN guidance may help to reduce asthma deaths Guidelines in Practice, January 2015, Vol 18 (1)

Holmes S Scullion J Guidance Update Management of asthma remains suboptimal Guidelines in Practice March 2015 UK/SPI-141751 p2-7

Holmes S Scullion J Mims Advance Unmet need in adult asthma management March 2015 UK/SPH41723 p2-5

S Holmes and J Scullion. Prescribing for upper respiratory tract infection. Practical Nursing 2015. Vol 2 Holmes S Scullion J The power of pollen: seasonal rhinoconjunctivitis Independent Nurse 2015 6 April 19-235, No. 1. Page 18-22.

Holmes S Scullion J Assessment and prescribing decisions in allergic rhinitis Nurse Prescribing 2015:13(4)180-185

Scullion J Holmes S Assessing and treating allergic rhinitis Practice Nursing 2015:26(5)1-4

Holmes S Scullion J A Changing Landscape: Diagnosis and management of COPD
BJN 2015;24(8) 432-439

Holmes S Scullion J Managing asthma in pregnancy Independent Nurse 2015 16th
Feb 18-20

Scullion J Holmes S Helping children thrive during hay fever season Independent
Nurse 2015 4th May 27-30

Holmes S Scullion J Is asthma care the best it can be? 5 Oct 2015 Independent
Nurse :21-26

Lister S Scullion J Appearing at a Coroners inquest Independent Nurse 2015 Oct 5th

Scullion J Respiratory disorders: one step forward and two steps sideways General
Practice Nursing 2015;1;3:32-37

Scullion JE Vincent E Erectile dysfunction in COPD: A hidden co-morbidity Chronoc
Respiratory Disease 2016;13;1:3-4

Scullion J Holmes S Tuberculosis: hot topic MIMS Learning 2016 March www.mimslearning.co.uk/tuberculosis-hot-topivcc-march-2016/activity/3804

Scullion JE Holmes SG The curious case of sarcoidosis Independent Nurse 2016 4th
April 20-21

Interests

In my spare time I enjoy the home delights of a large garden and several feline companions. I have travelled extensively and enjoy new experiences and cultures, and am now the proud owner of a forty year old VW camper van. I read extensively on my kindle and enjoy the Ipad applications as a distracter from reality.